"JST just recently installed a CCTV system in my business at Wallsend. I couldn't speak more highly of their service and the system they designed. After years of using "self installed" systems which continually failed to work properly, it has given me real peace of mind to know I've got a completely reliable system.

It is reassuring when you can't be in your business every day that you can check on areas of concern on recorded footage or view real time footage over the internet.

It was great dealing with software engineers that can design, install and integrate the system with all business and home computers. JST went beyond what was agreed to, so they could ensure that the system worked beyond my expectations.

I've noticed two main changes since Jet installed the CCTV. One is that theft from customers has dropped off because they can see what I'm recording. The second is that the staff are much more careful about handling cash.

I would be very happy to recommend JST to any business requiring their services"
